Eagle's Nest Camp & Hante Adventures welcomes participants with diverse abilities to participate in its programs. Depending on the program selected, participants will be expected to engage in numerous activities that include, but are not limited to: immersion into a foreign culture, hiking long distances wearing a backpack, swimming, boating/paddling activities, rock climbing, multi-day wilderness and camping activities including solo time and sleeping on the ground in tents or tarps. Participants will be required to engage in a high degree of independent living and perform necessary self-care including maintaining adequate nutrition and hydration in a wilderness setting, dressing appropriately for environmental conditions, maintaining personal hygiene, managing known medical conditions and sharing prepared meals and living spaces with other participants. Participants will be required to work cooperatively as a member of a group and support a team approach with flexibility and the ability to compromise on an interpersonal or group level.

Eagle's Nest Camp/Hante Adventures is not a therapeutic program and does not have clinical therapists on staff or provide clinical services to participants. Participants may be dismissed or withdrawn from the program without refund if the administration determines that the camper poses a physical or emotional safety risk to themselves or other campers.

Eagle's Nest Camp/Hante Adventures intends this dialogue to part of an interactive process and a resource tool early in the application process and not as a way to exclude or screen applicants.
